

LAY LEADERSHIP UPDATE

NOVEMBER 2014

VOL V NO 4

A WORD FROM THE DIRECTOR

As we move through the final days of autumn, we conclude our series of fall programs. Having witnessed the living Christ in the faces of so many people, we have experienced the wisdom offered by Cardinal Walter Kasper who has applied meaning to our ministry, "As God by his mercy always gives us a new future, our mercy gives future to the other, and to a world that needs it so much." (See essay on page 2.) Here is a summary of our ministry activities:

Praying with St. Ignatius Parish Retreats. The 8-week retreats which have been offered at Our Lady of the Lake Parish, Euclid and at Blessed Trinity Parish, Cleveland will conclude during this month of November. The members of the two retreat teams that served at these parishes will come together for a Ministry Reflection Evening on Wednesday, December 3rd. We will gather in prayer, in thanksgiving, in reflection and review as we share stories of encounter and as we witness to Christ's presence in our ministry.

Food for the Journey Participants, Janet Lehane and Mary Lou Swinerton share reflections on the process of conversion.

Food for the Journey. Spiritual directors, retreat leaders, pastoral ministers and those who have made the full Spiritual Exercises of Ignatius Loyola will continue this three-session fall book reflection group during the month of November, concluding on December 6th. Reflecting on the process of conversion as seen in the life of a contemporary spiritual leader, Karen Armstrong, the participants continue to glean personal insights about the process of conversion which are applicable to their ministry.

Nurturing the Call. Martha Campbell and Janet Lehane completed a three-part series on Faith Sharing Facilitation for 14 Leaders/Facilitators of the Praying with St. Ignatius and the St Ignatius High School Spirituality Program for Adults. On Saturday, December 13th we will gather for a morning practicum on "Guiding Gospel Contemplation for Large Groups." Registration Deadline: Friday, November 28th. To register contact Martha Campbell at campbellmarthal@gmail.com

DEEPENING OUR AWARENESS - SOMETHING TO PONDER

The Message of Mercy

A Reflection by Cardinal Walter Kasper *

The precept of mercy applies not only to individual Christians but to the church as a whole. Many ask: If God is always merciful, why is the church not the same? Or, why does the church not seem to be as merciful as God? The question expresses the uneasiness of many Christians. ... The command for the church to be merciful is grounded in the identity of the church as the body of Christ. It is the sacrament of mercy as the "total Christ" - that is, Christ in head and members. Thus the church encounters Christ himself in its own members and in people who are in need of help.

The church is not only the agent of God's mercy; it is also the object of God's mercy. As the body of Christ, it is redeemed by Jesus Christ. But the church encompasses sinners in its bosom and therefore must be purified time and again in order to be able to stand pure and holy (Eph 5:23). Consequently, the church must self-critically and repeatedly ask itself whether it actually lives up to what it is and should be. ... The message of mercy, therefore, has far-reaching consequences for the teaching, life and mission of the church. ...

The customary perspective in theology starts from above. We know a doctrine or a rule, and we start from there in order to apply it to concrete reality, which is usually complex and manifold. Mercy leads us to a different perspective, to start not from above but from below, to undertake a consideration of a concrete situation to which we are applying the law or rule. ... This is the method taught by St. Ignatius Loyola in his Spiritual Exercises; this is how Pope Francis, as a good Jesuit, practices it. He starts from the situation and then undertakes a discernment of the spirits.

The same approach is shown to us by Jesus. When he was asked, "Who is my neighbor?" he did not give an abstract answer. He told a concrete story, the story of the good and merciful Samaritan (Lk 10:30-37). ... This is exactly how God himself deals with us. God bends down in order to raise us up; to comfort us and to heal our wounds; and to give us a new chance, to bestow on us new life and new hope. ... Mercy is the name of our God. Mercy is the call to be a human being, who feels with other human beings who suffer and are in need. ... As God by his mercy always gives us a new chance, a new future, our mercy gives future to the other, and to a world that needs it so much.

THE MESSAGE OF MERCY

Mercy is the call to be a real Christian, who follows the example of Christ and meets Christ in our suffering brothers and sisters. Mercy is the essence of the Gospel and the key to Christian life. Mercy is the best and most beautiful news that can be told to us and that we should bring to the world.

- Cardinal Walter Kasper
